MR. HILL'S CONNECTING LINK. New Road to Join the Burlington and the President James J. Hill is authority for the statement that the Great Northern system is to be connected with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy by means of a new line which will extend through Montana northwest and southeast. One-half of this connecting link is to be built by the Great Northern and one-half by the Burlington. Surveyors have almost completed their work and construction is to pleted their work and construction is to begin next spring.

The Burlington extension will begin near Billings, Mon., which is the point of junction between the Northern Pacific and the Burlington. This half of the new line will extend northward to Oko, Mon., where it will meet the Great Northern extension about half-way between Billings and Great Falls.

The projected railroad will be standard gauge and it will enable the Great Northern road to participate with the Burlington in traffic between the Pacific coast and Chicago. This arrangement will give the Western timber mills established through the agency of the Great Northern a direct outlet to Chicago.

President Hill was again in conference yesterday with members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and representatives of the Harriman syndicate with regard to the Northern Pacific situation. No definite result was reached, but all of the prospects of an amicable adjustment of existing differences.

LAWYER TALKS FIGHT IN COURT.

Threatens to Knock Down Opposing Counsel for Calling Him a "Scalawag." Melvin E. Rice, A. B. Sanborn and Charles Mahoney, who are accused of tampering with witnesses in the divorce suit brought by Emma Rice against Melvin E. Rice, bookkeeper of the Borough School Board, were arraigned before Magistrate Steers in the Adams street police court in Brooklyn yesterday. Sanborn and Mahoney are accused by Thomas O. Harrison, a precinct detective, of offering him a bribe to the end that Harrison would leave the city until the close of the divorce case. Harrison, Mahoney, Themas Quinn and George Flushing were engaged by a detective agency to secure the evidence upon which the divorce case is based. Flushing is now in Chicago and Quinn is looked up in Bridgeport, Conn.

sudden Closing of a Seventh Avenue Bet-

A poolroom in Seventh avenue not far from the Circle closed very suddenly last Tuesday afternoon, and there is a strong suspicion that the tip went over the police vires. No raid was made, and there are those who say that the closing was a trap sprung by Parkhurst society agents to catch a tipster. Those who tell this story also tell of the friendship existing between the alleged proprietor of the poolroom and Capt. Donohue of the West Forty-seventh street police station in whose precinct the poorroom does business.

While the barker in the poolroom was calling out the odds on the sixth race at Morris Park on Tuesday the telephone behind the partition rang. A moment later a man shouted through the pigeon-

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 28. There was a suggestion in to-day's stock market of the buoyant speculation of six months ago. Union Pacific was traded in to the extent of nearly 200,000 shares at a net advance of 2% per cent., and St. Paul on transactions of considerably more than 100,000 shares closed 2% points higher than yesterday. There was also heavy trading in Southern Pacific, but, like the remainder of the list, it simply responded to the aggressive speculation in the two stocks first named. There was absolutely no news relating to the properties represented by these three stocks, but the prominence they attained in the speculation revived time-honored reports of a probable alliance between the Union Pacific and the St. Paul systems.

In default of confirmation of these re ports a plausible view as any of those advanced by the Street to account for the movement in them is, that they have been taken in hand by important interests for purely speculative purposes. There was a failing off in the demand for high-priced investment stocks, but, on the other hand, there was a marked increase in the transacons in bonds at steadily advancing prices. The heaviest trading was in Union Pacific convertible 4s, a circumstance that was generally construed as indicative of impending developments favorable to the Union Pacific system in connection with the settlement and readjustment of the transportation situation in the northern half of the territory west of the Mississippi Regarding that situation, the most that can be said is, that plans for retiring Northern Pacific preferred and merging the control of that company and of the Great Northern Railway in an investment corporation are being steadily advanced and without doubt will be virtually consummated by the end of the year. The statement was published to-day that the Northern Pacific stock acquired by Union Pacific interests last spring had been deposited as security under the Union Pacific con vertible mortgage, and that the preferred stock so deposited might not be available for redemption. The first part of this statement is hardly credible, since the acquisition of Northern Pacific stock by the Union Pacific Company would, under the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Pearsall case deprive that stock of its voting power. That decision, it will be remembered was to the effect that a railroad company could not hold stock of a parallel and competing line. Relative to the last part of the statement, it requires but very little knowledge of business affairs to understand that, if a security is subject to redemption and is called for payment it makes no difference who holds it or under what conditions it is held. If it is an interest or dividendbearing obligation payments upon it cease on the date of maturity and, if it has voting power, that would obviously cease whe the company has deposited with a trust company or other financial agent the funds required for its redemption. The total transactions in stocks were in excess of 750,000 shares, the largest in many days, and more than half of the business was supplied by Union Pacific, St. Paul and Southern Pacific. The other half was fairly well distributed, with the more important trading in New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania and Atchison preferred, which showed an average ne improvement of nearly a point. In the less active list the only stock that attained prominence was Chicago Great Western common, which was advanced 2% per cent on hasty inferences drawn from the that one of the Vanderbilt family has taken a trip of inspection over a part of the company's system. In the industrial list Amalgamated Copper was the only prominent feature. It was exceptionally weak and at a rally of a point sustained a net loss of suce were very weak and closed at the lowest prices, on prospects that the dividend upon the preferred stock would be reduced. The company is unquestionably feeling the effects of new competition. A moderate demand for International Power lifted the price 25 points. In the outside market there was aggressive buying of Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis bonds and preferred stock, and also of Dominion Securities. On the other hand, American Can issues were heavy, particularly the

The foreign exchange market was easier. owing to an abatement of the demand to cover maturing bills, and also because of a larger supply of cotton bills. Cottor is now moving to the seaboard in larger quantities than at any time this season Receipts at shipping points to-day were 69,000 bales, and the receipts so far this week indicate that the receipts for the week will aggregate 450,000 bales. The debit balance of the Sub-Treasury at the Clearing House this morning was the smallest for several days past, and on its total transactions with the banks the Sub-Treasury gained $449,000, thus reducing the net payments by the Sub-Treasury to the banks since the beginning of the present Clearing House week to $579,000. It is to be noted that, during the corresponding period of last week, the Sub-Treasury took $1. 827,000 from the banks. Shipments of currency to the interior through the Sub-Treasury to-day were $355,000 to New Orleans, making total shipments to that centre in the current Clearing House week over $1,300,000. The closing of the stock market was in the main strong, though the late buying appeared to be chiefly by the short interest, which had become alarmed at the strength of the market.
